ADP and the California Department of Child Support Services (DCSS) are co-hosting a FREE one-hour webinar. Leaders from ADP and DCSS will deliver insightful content and answer your questions in a live Q&A session following the presentation. Go to <http://bit.ly/1aV0vCC> to register for this event.

About the Webinar

Employers must report newly hired employees shortly after the date of hire to a designated state agency. And agencies match new hire reports against child support records, unemployment benefit and workers compensation information.

In this webinar, we will explore many of the responsibilities of employers in connection with new hire reporting within the state of California and with respect to multi-state reporting. Specific topics to be covered include:

- Why employers should report new hires
- What information to report and how to do so
- How to update company information with agencies
- What various resources are available to you

The session will conclude with the opportunity to ask questions of both ADP and the California Department of Child Services.
